ALUMNI BIOS

Dan Klein
‘90, Human Biology

Dan is a lecturer for TAPS, the GSB, the d.school and a resident fellow for Rinconada.

Marc Thompson
‘97, Science, Technology & Society

Marc is manager of quality infrastructure at PayPal and a volunteer for the Stanford admissions office. He is also a mentor at BUILD, a high school entrepreneurship program.

Chris Arriola
‘92, History

Chris is the current supervising deputy district attorney of the Juvenile Justice Unit and was formerly the president of the Santa Clara County Bar Association and La Raza Lawyers Association. He is also a former president of the Stanford Chicano Latino Alumni.

Sonya Cotero Arriola
‘96, Human Biology

Sonya is president of Sacred Heart Nativity Schools and a member of the Stanford Athletics Board. During her time at Stanford, she was an RA in the Suites (Jenkins), a tour guide and a member of Stanford University Women’s Tennis Team.
ALUMNI BIOS

Lorie Canchola Boyd
’94, Economics
Lorie is director of recruiting at Zendesk and a member of the Stanford Alumni Association Board of Directors.

Kristin MacLaren Abbott
’88, American Studies
Kristin is an illustrator at Abbott Illustration and an instructor at the Academy of Art University in San Francisco.

DeRonnie Pitts
’00, Communication, MBA ’07
DeRonnie Pitts is a financial advisor and a DJ in his free time.

Leslie Kim
’98, English
Leslie is senior manager of private editions & product development for Stanford Travel/Study.

Kimarie Pike Matthews
’95, Political Science
Kimarie is vice president of social media at Wells Fargo Bank and a board member of CuriOdyssey, a children’s science education and wildlife center in San Mateo.

Victoria Babin Fram
’06, International Relations, MBA ’12
Victoria is managing director of VilCap Investments, an early-stage investor in social and environmental companies in the United States and emerging markets.
ALUMNI BIOS

Ritu Kapur
’98, Human Biology

Ritu is senior research scientist at NeuroPace, Inc. and was an RA while attending Stanford. She encourages “meandering” and has great advice for those who are still figuring out what they want to do.

Renita Thukral
’97, American Studies

Renita has experience in various fields of law, including civil rights, education reform and charter school law. She was an athlete while at Stanford and just returned to the Bay Area about eight months ago.

Adam Miller
’96, Sociology

Adam has spent over 10 years in education reform and is currently senior vice president of strategic partnerships for EdTec. He was an RA at Stanford and can give great advice on choosing a major.

Laura Klein Davis
’89, Art

Laura is director of global sales operations at Echelon Corporation. Her favorite memory is driving through the Quad (oops!)—you’ll have to ask her for the full story.

Lisa Davis
’84, Humanities

Lisa is an antitrust counseling and litigation lawyer at Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati. Her favorite spot on campus is the Quad. She has great advice on finding a career path.

Monica Shen Knotts
’93, Industrial Engineering

Monica works in technology strategy at Cisco and has worked in both product management and consulting. She was a student athlete and met her husband at Stanford!

continued
ALUMNI BIOS

Tracy Hughes
’91, Human Biology

Tracy is the founder and CEO of Silicon Valley Sports Ventures, an organization that invests in companies working with technology relevant to the world of sports. She was a student athlete and continues to be involved with the Stanford community and athletics program.

Leana Giannini
’79, History, Italian, MA ’82, Education

Leana has an arsenal of degrees from Stanford, with a heavy emphasis on the humanities. She has worked in both teaching and law and loves to travel (especially to Italy).

Tricia Ward-Dolkas
’79, Human Biology, MS ’81, Engineering-Economic Systems

Tricia has extensive experience in recruiting, particularly in the software industry. She has wonderful advice to give college students looking to secure internships. While on campus, she was one of the students who started La Creperie at French House!

Diane Johnson Flynn
’84, Economics

Diane is the chief marketing officer at GSV Labs and can give advice on internships and finding a major. She likes to visit campus with her three children and is on the Board of Trustees at the Sacred Heart Schools.

Linda Adler
MA ’87, Communication

Linda is the CEO and founder of Pathfinders Medical, a healthcare consulting company. She loves to employ new Stanford grads and medical students at Pathfinders.